Cromwell Called Again.

Washington, Jan. 9.—The Senate committee on intercanal canal today voted to summon William Nelson Cromwell to appear before it on Jan. 22. Senator Morgan intends to resume his cross-examination of the New York lawyer concerning his relations with the New Panama Canal company and the sale of the property to the United States, on which subject Mr. Cromwell heretofore has declined to testify.

CONSUELO DICTATES.

Her Terms Embodied in Deed of Separation Signed by Marlborough.

London, Jan. 9.—Reconciliation of the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough is now out of the question. The legal deed of separation was signed by them yesterday. It is understood that the Duke was compelled to accept every condition dictated by the Duchess' lawyer. The Duchess, it is declared, has been in the right ever since the first rift. The Duke is forced to acknowledge that she held the whip hand, has treated him with greater consideration than he deserved. The Duke is exceedingly lucky to escape the seclusion of the divorce court, which would have ruined him politically. The Duchess, of course, will have the custody of the children, the father seeing them when he desires.

ARREST OF LYNCHERS SOON.

Federal Action Shortly in The Chattanooga Case.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Jan. 9.—Within ten days Sheriff Joseph F. Shipp, some of his deputies, and a half score of alleged members of the mob who took Edward Johnson, a negro, from the county jail on March 19, and hanged him to the Tennessee river bridge, will be arrested by order of the supreme court of the United States as the result of the contempt proceedings instituted last May. Notices were received yesterday of a motion made by the Attorney General in Washington for the arrest of all the persons concerned, so that they might be compelled to give bond for their appearance. A second motion was made for the taking of testimony either before the supreme court or a special commission named for that purpose.

IMMEDIATE REFORMS.

Recommended by Massachusetts Railroad Commission.

Boston, Jan. 8.—Severe criticism of the New York Central management of the Boston and Albany railroad were generally upheld in a report filed today by the state railroad commission. The board agrees that delays and lack of facilities on the Boston and Albany have been exasperating and while not suggesting an annulment of the lease recommends immediate reforms.

Bone and Meat for Poultry.

The development of the poultry and egg business is something simply wonderful. The fact is coming to be known that if poultry can have a clean, warm, well-ventilated home, with plenty of sunshine and the right kind of food, they will usually lay. During the extremely cold months it is very essential that they have the stimulating, strengthening nourishment afforded by green cut bone, Carroll S. Page of Hyde Park, Vt., is probably the largest producer of green cut bone and meat in the United States and he will send a 200-pound barrel to any one on receipt of $3.50, and will prepay the freight to any railroad station in New England or the middle states.

STATE RIGHTS INVADED

Overman On the Child Labor Measures

HE CRITICISES BOTH

Those of Beveridge and Lodge—Believes State Sovereignty in Danger—Congress Moving Toward Regulation of All Industry.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 9.—Senator Overman of North Carolina yesterday addressed the Senate on the pending child labor bills, and went into an elaborate discussion of the decline of state rights. His text was taken from the constitution of his state: "A recurrence to first principles is absolutely necessary to the preservation of our liberties." The child labor bills of Senators Lodge and Beveridge were read by Mr. Overman, with the comment that the enactment of either would be not only a stretch to the breaking point of the commerce clause of the constitution, but would be a usurpation of rights of the states which the people had expressly reserved to themselves when the tenth amendment to the constitution was adopted. It provides that "the powers not delegated to the United States by it to the states, are reserved to the states respectively, or to the people."

As there was in the days of the adoption of this amendment evidence of a strong sentiment for consolidated or centralized government, Mr. Overman believed there were even stronger evidences of this tendency today. Mr. Overman pictured the ends of state sovereignty as the result of the present desire for encroachment on the reserved rights of the people. If more power was needed, he suggested, the way was clear. Let an amendment be submitted to the states. Let the people be consulted.

Mr. Overman held there was no limit to the power of Congress to deal with commerce which is interstate in its nature, but there was a decided distinction between regulating interstate commerce and making regulations concerning commercial production which might and might not become interstate commerce. For this latter class of industry, Mr. Overman desired no interference from Congress. The mere fact that goods were manufactured in one state for transmission to another did not, in his opinion, make them subjects of interstate commerce. He concluded that if Congress could regulate child labor in the factory and mine it could regulate it on the farm, and in every industry, and, in fact, it could regulate every other detail of every industry.

Mr. Overman said he was in favor of a child labor law for the District of Columbia, and was not to be understood as making any objection to the enactment of states regulating the subject. His objection was on the broad ground of defending the rights of the states against the centralization of power in the federal government.

SENATE CHECK TO CORTELYOU.
Action on His Nomination as Secretary of Treasury Put Over a Week.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 9.—At the request of Senators Teller and Daniel, the Senate committee on finance yesterday postponed for one week action on the nomination of Postmaster General Cortelyou, to be secretary of the treasury. They did not announce whether they would continue their opposition to his confirmation now that he has resigned the chairmanship of the Republican national committee.

The House yesterday took up the army appropriation bill, an agreement having been made that six hours should be allowed for general debate.

canals has agreed to support the bill by Senator Morgan to place the affairs of the Panama railroad under the isthmian canal commission and thus have all government affairs on the isthmus under one head.

The Republican leaders of the Senate conferred yesterday to reach an agreement on a resolution on the president's discharge of negro troops that will harmonize Senators Lodge and Foraker. There is excellent prospect of success. The indications are that a provision will be determined upon directing an inquiry by the committee on military affairs into the occurrences at Brownsville, without specifying whether it shall deal only with the fact or shall include the legal problems.

Compromise on Negro Inquiry.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 9.—At a conference of Republican leaders of the Senate yesterday, a complete agreement was reached as to the character of the resolution to be adopted providing for an investigation of the Brownsville negro troop affair. The resolution will be almost similar to those of Senators Foraker and Lodge.

NEW MOVE BY MAYOR SCHMITZ.

He Petitions For a Writ of Habeas Corpus.

San Francisco, Jan. 9.—Mayor Eugene F. Schmitz through his attorneys, yesterday, petitioned the supreme court for a writ of habeas corpus, alleging that he was being illegally deprived of his liberty. Petition for a writ of prohibition was also filed before the higher court to prevent Judge Dume from continuing with the trial of Schmitz. The supreme court granted the issuance of the writ, which was made returnable next Thursday, when the matter will be argued. Pending the return of the writ, Schmitz was admitted to cash bail in the sum of $5,000. The petition for a writ of prohibition has not yet been considered by the court.

SUNKEN SHIP GATHERS CARGO.

Diver in Piscataqua River Makes an Odd Discovery.

Kittery, Me., Jan. 9.—In the hulk of the schooner George Savage, which sank in the Piscataqua river in 1899, a diver has discovered a cargo more valuable than the load of sawdust carried by the vessel when she was wrecked.

In the old ribs of the ship are a number of large anchors valued at hundreds of dollars. Several of the larger vessels which enter the river had fouled their anchors in the old wreck and lost them.

WAR CLOUD OVER ALBANY

Move to Defeat the Governor's Recommendations

MEMBERS OF "OLD GUARD"

To Get Best Chairmanships — Reformers would Affect Republican Leaders— Fear of Revival of Politician-Corporation Alliance.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 9.—The well-authenticated report here that the president pro tem of the Senate, John Raines, has decided to reappoint as committee chairman the most prominent figures in the "Old Guard" which has done the bidding of Platt and Odell and also, as a result, carried out the wishes of the corporations for many services, has given rise to the belief that under the leadership of former State Chairman Odell a fight is to be made in the Senate to defeat the recommendations for reform in railroad supervision made by Governor Hughes. Inherently the suspicion has much to justify it. It was in the Senate that eighty-cent gas was defeated two years, and that last year the insurance legislation recommended by the investigation committee was temporarily amended into harmlessness. The fact that Senators White, Cassidy, Wilcox and various other members who assisted in this latter job are to be given commanding positions gives color to the report that a repetition of the old tactics may be expected. The recommendations of the governor would not merely eliminate a dozen of the most prominent Republican politicians in the state now holding office, but would also insure such supervision of the railroads as would provoke the hostility of the corporations.

Albany accordingly fears the old familiar alliance of the politician and the corporation which may defeat Governor Hughes' reform recommendations. The relation of Odell to the scheme is less clear. Odell is no longer politically potent; he is merely a county leader. But his skill and ability in such affairs is so well recognized that it may easily happen that the politicians who are threatened with the loss of their jobs will place their case in his hands. As to Odell's relation with the railroad corporations it will be recalled that Harriman while on the stand in the Armstrong investigation flatly declared that Odell's political importance was primarily due to his association with the ex-governor.

About that time a gentleman called upon me, and said, 'I heard of your condition, and have come to tell you that Dr. Miles' Heart Cure saved my life, and I want you to try it.' I did so, and after a week or so I went to my physician and told him I had been taking Dr. Miles' Heart Cure. He examined me and said, 'God bless Miles' Heart Cure, it has made you better in a few days than I ever expected to see you again.' I am now well, having fully regained my health by the use of this remedy."
